Face To Face With Wolves (Face To Face With Animals)

Synopsis

The Arctic wolf inches towards you. Like you, he is torn between fear and curiosity. His instinct leads him towards the scent of your leather boots. Your instinct is to reach out to this curious white canine. Suddenly, he snarls, and you're face to face with a wild animal. For years, photographer Jim Brandenburg has observed lone wolves by moonlight, Arctic wolves leaping onto ice floes, and wolves hunting and foraging for food. Packs of gray wolves surround his house in Minnesota. Let him lead you on an intimate journey through their mysterious world, making a persuasive case for the protection of this threatened species, and showing how wolves and humans can live together.

Jim Brandenburg is widely recognised as one of the world's premier wildlife photographers. His work with National Geographic has produced 19 magazine stories, several television features, and nearly 20 books, including 4 for children. His photographs have won numerous awards including Magazine Photographer of the Year by the National Press Photographer's Association two times and Kodak Wildlife Photographer of the Year by the Natural History Museum-London and the BBC's Wildlife Magazine. He was a Hasselblad Master, a Nikon Legend behind the Lens, and one of Canon's Explorer of Light photographers. Brandenburg received the World Achievement Award from the United Nations Environmental Programme in Stockholm, Sweden, in recognition for his use of nature photography in raising public awareness for the environment. Jim and Judy Brandenburg established the Brandenburg Prairie Foundation in 1999 to educate, promote, preserve, and expand native prairie in southwestern Minnesota.

A must have on Wolf information if you are looking for a book to learn about them or the different kinds of Wolves this would be the book I recommend to have. It is easy to read and takes the time to give you information the average book would not. This is a great resource book for the High School or College level for reference and has a lot of other references in the book to use. Excellent read and enjoyable.

A book full of beautiful pictures of wolves in nature among the wilderness shows how they fit in with nature and each other, superb.

beautiful pictures,great if your an artist

The photography in this book is amazing! We used this book in my class with our reading unit and the second graders were highly impressed with the photos as well as the information they learned. Highly recommend! It is definitely above second grade reading level, but I had a high achieving class and they really enjoyed it.

I really enjoyed reading this short book. I would recommend this to anyone interested in learning more about wildlife. Believe it would be good for children that have shown interest in animals in the wild.

Perfect book for my wolf girl!

Not much narrative that I didn't already know but the pictures alone were worth the money. The photography is outstanding in this book. Too bad there weren't more of them, though!!!!

Put together for National Geographic by Jim and Judy Brandenburg this is a great combination of spectacular photographs and easy well written concise information that is easily understood by children but definitely fun and interesting to read to them, while looking at great pictures, for the adult as well. Bears repeating that the photos are National Geographic worthy. Well done and good fun!
