Matthew J. Burkart, P.E., is president of his own consulting firm, Aegis Corporation. He has been involved in construction litigation and has served as an expert witness for OSHA and many of the country's most well-known law firms. A widely published author, he also serves on many committees governing the construction industry. Daniel M. Paine has extensive knowledge in the field of fall protection. He has served as president of Sinoco, one of the major fall prevention device manufacturers and providers. Currently, he is a consultant, and president of Innovative Safety Products, Ltd. He serves on many committees and is highly regarded among his peers.

Terrible photos and drawings. One drawing so enlarged you could not even tell what the author was trying to convey. I have been in the safety profession since 1979, and I would definitely not purchase this book again.

Easy to Understand

good. OK. help me a lot. Awesome product! Works perfectly for leveling and trimming cakes! a gift to my brother ,
