Customer Reviews

Focusing on chemical hazards around the house and yard, this entry in the My Healthy Habits series presents a caped young narrator who styles himself Mighty Matthew keeping his little brother (Mega Mouth) away from Grandma's medicine, the cleaning products that Mama uses, and other harmful substances. Aside from a debatable claim that lawn fertilizer is a type of herbicide, younger readers will find healthy doses of useful information about good practices, safe storage of potential poisons, and what to do in case of emergency—all delivered with melodramatic relish (Toilet cleaner hides in the bathroom. Stand back, Mega Mouth!) rather than bland, forgettable cautions. Back matter includes print and web resources plus a recipe for a vinegar-based cleaning fluid. Grades 3-5. --John Peters
