Long Island: Historic Houses Of The South Shore (Images Of America)

Synopsis

In contrast to and predating Long Island's famous Gold Coast (the North Shore), communities along the Great South Bay were home to hundreds of less publicized, yet equally impressive, mansions and historic houses. These homes were once owned by prominent captains of industry, popular entertainment figures, and movers and shakers of the day, such as the Bourne, Cutting, Gardiner, Gulden, Gustivino, Guggenheim, Hollins, and Vanderbilt families. Long Island: Historic Houses of the South Shore explores the South Shore's famous resident personalities, including Schuyler Parsons, Fred Astaire, Anita Stewart, and Robert Pinkerton. The lifestyle of the South Shore is also portrayed, including activities like hunting and fishing as well as the famous beaches that served as tourist attractions.

Christopher M. Collora is an award-winning broadcast and print journalist. His interest in historic homes was sparked by his work on the LI News Tonight television series and special report on historic Gold Coast mansions of Long Island's North Shore. Born and raised on the South Shore of Long Island, he is a contributor to Historic Long Island, which promotes historical preservation across Long Island.

This book was a window into the world of old Long Island and the beautiful homes that existed at one time, along with a way of life that has vanished. While some of the homes are no longer with us, some are still around today. I love looking at the architecture of these homes and what the builders and the owners thought was the height of architectural "elegance" at the height of the Gilded Age. It's sad that so many of these houses have been demolished and McMansions have popped up in their places as they cannot compare to the beauty and true style that was ever so apparent just a little over a hundred years ago.

Beautiful pictures. Well organized. Brought back lots of memories and learned the history of each home.

I couldn't put this book down. So much information and wonderful photographs!

This book shares a lot of information about our precious Sputh Shore! We may not be the Gold Coast but the home and the families were just as impressive!

I enjoyed the book very much, it was wonderful to see the glory of the old mansions of the past.

Interesting read. Bought it to see Guggenheim's estate that became the neighborhood in North Babylon where I grew up.

VERY NICE BOOK AND GOOD SELLER...THANK YOU.

History of the golden era.
