The Legend Of Snow Wolf: Book Two: Redemption

Synopsis

An epic tale of betrayal, revenge, violence, love, and intricate strategies set amidst the magnificent background of legendary China and Mongolia. "The Legend of Snow Wolf is to martial arts what Harry Potter is to wizards!" "Book Two: Redemption" continues the action immediately following "Book One: Reincarnation", with the young alchemist Li Kung, who now finds himself as Snow Wolfs chosen warrior, forged by her hand in a plot carefully formed decades ago to assume the burden of destroying the Dragon Houses. The great warrior Suthachai, with Fei Fei, makes plans to leave for Mongolia, but is intercepted by her fathers elite warriors. Li Kung, armed with Snow Wolfs ancient strategies, incites lethal violence between the two Dragon Houses, pushing them to the brink of full-scale war. Suthachai returns from Mongolia alive and well, not to save Li Kungs life, but to save his soul. Together, they work to reverse Snow Wolfs complex plot of revenge and turn the cycle of war into one of peace. (Snow Wolf) is set to turn Wuxia into a household word by introducing English-speaking fans to this traditional genre's intrigue, romance, wandering warriors and amazing martial artists. --Kungfu Magazine

Fred Lit Yu: This is Fred Lit Yu's first novel.

Page turner, and action packed, full of intrigue and the strategies depicted were outstanding.

The book shows the points in a very clear, concise manner. Includes 6 almost life sized wall chart/posters, which are very good! Book is 64 pages with lots of very good illustrations. It gives explicit directions on where each meridian is located. Here is an example of how the info is given for a point: C2 QINGLING (H2 Chinling) 3 cun above the elbow, in the groove medial to m. biceps brachii. It goes thru the points in this manner for each meridian. It also has a separate section called "Names of the Extraordinary Points and Their Locations" An example of this one, under Section 1. Head and Neck, is: EM8 JIACHENGJIANG (Chiachengchang) 1 cun by the side of Chengjiang (JM24), directly below Dican (G4), at the mental foramen. The last section of the book is a Table of Proportional Measurements. So far this is the best book I have seen showing where the points are located. I am not a professional, just trying to learn about acupuncture on my own. But I would say this is definitely a beautiful set that would be well used and cherished by a professional.
